dent of the Alexandria Canal it is learned that seven of the nine spans of the bridge across the Potomac at Georgetown have been erected, and that upon five of these seven the trough or aqueduct has been completed, leaving but two spans of the bridge and four of the aqueduct yet unfinished. The material for the uncompleted work is on the spot, has been adjusted, and will be placed in position early in March, at which time the repairs to the other portions of the canal—the bed and the locks at this city-now in progress, will have been made; and it is confidently asserted that upon the resumption of navigation on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal the arrival of boats from Cumberland will be announced in this city.

O., A. & M. R. R. -The President of this road, in his last annual report to the Stockholders, which we have published, draws a glowing picture of the future prosperity of the road, "with one arm extended through the heart of the fertile Valley of Virginia, and the other extending to the North Carelina line at Danville." The Lynchburg Virginian says that it thinks this picture is not overdrawn, believing, as it does, "that this is one of the greatest lines of improvement in the State."-Yes not only in the State, but in the whole country, and its value and benefits will be de veloped more and more every year. SALTING THE STREETS .- For the information of many inquiring readers it is stated that the reasons why sprinkling the streets with salt after a snow storm is prohibited in many cities are that it is pronounced injurious to health, producing dyptheria, &c., besides acting injuriously on boots and shoes. Apart from the above deleterious effect on human health and property, it is said, by those "who know," that the pickling of horses feet is anything but pleasant to the animal, and, while not calculated to enhance their value or usefulness, it produces permanent lameness. Probably some one will suggest a mode to propel railroad cars during a snow storm without resorting to salt.

BUILDING, ASSOCIATION. - The Building Association was fully organized last night at the meeting held in the room over the Assembly Rooms. The Constitution was reported back from the committee, read, and the articles taken up seriatim, and adopted. The association is denominated "The Alexandria Building Association;" the sapital stock to be five hundred shares of $300 each, payable in monthly instalments of $2.50; the officers of the association to consist of a President, six Directors, three Trustees, and a Secretary and Treasurer, the Trustees and the Secre ary and Treasurer to be chosen by the Board of Directors, who also appoint an attorney and building committee: an examining committee is to be chosen annually by the stockholders. Whenever a sufficient sum of money has accumulated the Directors are to purchase or lease suitable lots, with or without houses thereon, and proceed to build or repair, and then the buildings are to be put up to the highest bidder, the member agreeing to pay the largest annual amount becoming the purchaser. Members owning lots can have houses built upon them by the association, by agreeing to pay 25 per cent. on the cost of building, with suitable guarantees, &c. After the adoption of the constitution, those present proceeded to subscribe, and in a short time $28,200 of the stock was taken; whereupon the stockholders proceeded to the election of officers, when G. Y. WORTHINGTON was unanimously elected President; and, upon ballotting, J. B. Smoot, Geo. Bryan, E. S. Leadbeater, W. H. Lumbert, W. F. Vincent, and S. F. Gregory were chosen Directors .-The meeting then adjourned. Application will at once be made to the Circuit Court of this county for a charter, and the association will then proceed without delay to carry out the specially to direct them to the attention of our objects of its organization—the erection of buildings, thereby improving the city, giving employment to our mechanics, and giving all, at a moderate expense, an opportunity of being the owner of a dwelling.
